Ruling Chiefs - Articles imported for the personal use of - Time-barred claim - Refund of duty.

P.P. 50-40-1

SIR,

I am directed to refer to section 40 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, which requires that a claim for refund of duty on articles imported for the personal use of Ruling Chiefs should be made to the proper customs officer within three months from the date of payment of duty. Intimation has now been received from the Political Department that no relaxation of the time limit will be allowed on the ground that the claim was delayed in the Residency office. They however suggest that, to satisfy the requirements of the law and to prevent claims from becoming time-barred on account of any delay that may occur in addressing the Residency Office, it is desirable that an Indian State should at the time of addressing the Resident regarding such a claim simultaneously intimate the Collector of Customs that the Resident has been asked to forward the claim to the Collector.

2. I am to request that the procedure explained above may kindly be followed in future.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

Macaulay.

SECRETARY TO THE RESIDENT.
